Creating with Colour

A program for younger students

Overview

Specially trained Voluntary Gallery Guides will conduct an interactive half-hour tour with a focus on colour.

The students will:

- Learn how the artist mixes colours.
- Discover how colours are used to describe emotions and mood.
- Interact with artworks from the historical, contemporary and Indigenous collections.
- Explore how artists use colour to tell their story.

Voluntary Gallery Guides will relate new concepts to familiar experiences. The ideas and concepts learned on the tour can be consolidated through an arts activity with an Education Officer.

This includes:

- Development of fine motor skills.
- Increase in observational drawing skills in the Art Gallery space.
- Encouragement of simple arts language.
- Creative use of various art materials.

Before your visit

Encourage your students to mix colours using different media such as paint, oil, pastels, chalk.

Name the new colours that have been mixed.

Create artworks using a variety of colours and textures. Talk about colours in the environment.
